Give the Gift of Hope Today

The Children's Home Society of New Jersey

Dear Friend,

We are living through a time of great uncertainty. Across our region and beyond, families are grappling with rising costs, disrupted benefits, and an escalating housing crisis. Parents are stretching every dollar, forced to choose between groceries, rent, and medical care. No matter who you are, chances are you've felt the impact in some way.

At The Children's Home Society of New Jersey (CHSofNJ), we see these challenges every day. A mother walks into our school-based center asking for formula and diapers. A father visits one of our family resource programs, unsure how he'll provide for his children this week.

In response, The Children's Home Society of New Jersey (CHSofNJ) has stepped up in every way possible, expanding food assistance, distributing baby-care essentials, and helping parents access emergency resources to stabilize their families.

In the past year, CHSofNJ has reached more than 70,000 children and families, providing maternal and child health services, adoption and behavioral health support, early education, and vital resources that bring relief and hope in moments of crisis.

But our work goes well beyond immediate assistance. Every day, we walk alongside parents working to build a better future, through parenting education, workforce readiness, and early learning programs that give every child a strong start. CHSofNJ is a place where families find not only help, but dignity, compassion, and connection.

This moment challenges us all, but it also reminds us of our collective power, the extraordinary things we can accomplish when we come together.

CHSofNJ exists because of the unwavering commitment of people like you, people who believe that every child deserves a safe start, every parent deserves support, and every family deserves the opportunity to thrive.

Transform worry into relief and uncertainty into hope. Together, we are making sure families in our community have what they need to keep moving forward. Thank you for standing with us, and for standing with the families who need us most.

Please consider donating today to help children and families find strength in uncertain times.

With gratitude,

Julie Dees, CEO
