
Meet Kate, Brian, and Brady

Hi there! We're Kate, Brian, and our son Brady—thank you for taking the time to get to know us.

We first met in 2015 during our first year of law school. After two years of building a close friendship, we realized we were meant to be more than just study partners. Since then, we've built a life grounded in love, laughter, and mutual respect.

About Kate:

Kate currently works part-time and remotely as a Civil Rights Attorney. She chose this flexible schedule to be home with Brady, allowing her to soak up every special moment with him without the need for daycare. When she's not working or spending time with Brady, Kate loves to garden! Springtime is especially exciting around here, as she starts planting all sorts of veggies—especially tomatoes, which she and Brian later use to make homemade sauce.

About Brian:

Brian works remotely as an attorney in the insurance field, which gives him plenty of time at home with the family. Outside of work, Brian is our resident handyman. He truly enjoys home projects and takes pride in everything he builds or fixes. He looks forward to teaching our children how to be handy too!

Our Family Life:

We love discovering new places, traveling, and spending time with our family and friends. One of our favorite traditions is collecting a magnet from every state we visit—we've set a goal to travel to all 50 states and can't wait to share that journey with our children.

We've settled in a beautiful and welcoming home in New Jersey, a place we plan to raise our growing family. Our home has plenty of space to play, learn, and explore—we've already prepared a cozy room for our future child! Our neighborhood is extremely safe, offers a top-rated school system, and is surrounded by parks, farms, and walking trails. It's a perfect place for children to grow up.

Why Adoption:

Adoption holds a special place in our hearts. Kate's dad was adopted from Germany, and her mom was adopted by her stepfather—so adoption has always been a part of our family story. After experiencing complications with our first pregnancy, we felt strongly that adoption was the right path for us. We are deeply grateful for the opportunity to grow our family this way and are committed to giving our child a loving, supportive environment where they feel proud of their story.

We are open to a semi-open adoption and are happy to share updates and photos so you can see your child growing up happy, healthy, and thriving.

Thank you again for considering us. We truly admire your strength and love, and we look forward to the possibility of walking this journey together.

With warm hearts,
Kate, Brian & Brady
